

Teacher Leader Network

Program Purpose: To give teacher leaders the tools they need to shape the culture of their schools, improve student learning, and influence practice among their peers.

The Teacher Leader Network (TLN) is continuous professional development designed to provide opportunities for growth in instructional expertise, practitioner research, and teacher leadership while serving as a leader among their peers. Participants will work in their current role while they attend network opportunities focused on building professional capacity through collaboration and job-embedded professional learning opportunities. To be selected for the network, interested applicants must currently serve in a teacher leadership role, such as an instructional technologist, instructional coach, content specialist, demonstration teacher, department head, or other campus leadership position approved by the Director of Professional Development. The network will launch in July with an intense two-day professional development opportunity that will provide teachers valuable skills to become effective coaches and designers of professional learning. On-going learning opportunities will be offered throughout the school year.
